Posses Seeking Double Slayer Near Canton

DIVORCEE AND FIANCE SHOT AND KILLED

Disappointed Lover of Woman Was "Not in Good Humor"

Peoria, Ill., July 17.—(AP)—A posse in search of Fred Hoover, who this morning at Canton shot and killed Mrs. Anna Parks, a divorcee, and her fiance, Herman Mason, Hoover escaped after the shooting and nearby towns have been notified to keep a watch for him. The shooting occurred in the cellar of Mrs. Parks' home. Hoover formerly boarded at the Parks home and was said to be deeply in love with the woman. She broke with him, however, and was engaged to wed Mason. Mason is a lineman employed by the Bell Telephone Company. His home is in Tazewell, Ind., and he is said to be worth $50,000. On the pretext of looking for some fruit jars which he had left there, Hoover went to the Parks home this morning. Mason was there at the time and said he would go down in the cellar and help look for them. Painters working on the house heard quarreling and heard Hoover make the remark: "I am not in good humor today, so shut up." Shortly afterwards, a shot was heard. Mrs. Parks rushed down the cellar steps and as she neared the landing Hoover turned the gun on her. She died on the way to a hospital.

His father was judge of the circuit court in this district for many years and was a distinguished lawyer and jurist. He was a nephew of the late Mrs. B. F. Shaw of this city. For 22 years Mr. Eustace was in active business, as a traveling representative of the Emerson-Talcott Co. of Rockford, now Emerson-Brandingham. In later years, with failing eye-sight and advancing years, he had been retired and had lived with his daughters, Miss Annie Eustace of Dixon and Mrs. E. T. Schuler of Gadsden, Ala. Mrs. Schuler's sons, Robert and Eustace and daughter, Miss Imogene, also survive and another grandson, John died only a few years ago.

McPHERSON CASE AGAIN SHIFTS TO MEXICAN BORDER

Reports of "Heavily Veiled" Woman are Investigated

Los Angeles, Calif., July 17.—(AP)—Attorneys for Almee Semple McPherson, evangelist and center of a sixty day mystery involving her reported drowning, alleged kidnapping and graphically narrated escape, today placed in the hands of the district attorney here an affidavit charging Ernesto Bublun, mayor of Agua Prieta, Mexico, with attempting to extort money from the Angelus Temple religious leader.

The affidavit was made by William Appel, interpreter, who said that he officiated in that capacity in conversations in the Curio Cafe, Agua Prieta, July 2, between Bublun and Mrs. McPherson.

At that time Mrs. McPherson was making her second series of excursions into the desert in an effort to locate the shack in which she said she had been held by kidnappers.

POLICE CHIEF WHO HAD SUIT AGAINST SLAIN EDITOR IS AT HEAD INVESTIGATING AGENCY

No Clue to Slayers of Canton, O., Publisher Yesterday

Canton, O., July 17.—(AP)—Investigation into the assassination of Don R. Mellett, publisher of the Canton Daily News is being pushed vigorously, but authorities declared today they had no definite clues. Spurred by offers of $20,450 in rewards to the capture and conviction of the slayers, detectives and special agents have added their efforts to the inquiry.

Funeral services for the editor-crusader, who was shot shortly after midnight yesterday morning, it is believed, because of his frequent attacks on the vice lords of Canton, were held at noon today. The services were private. At their conclusion the body was sent to Indianapolis.

At the head of the city's investigators is Chief of Police S. A. Lengel, who has pending in the Stark County Courts a libel suit against the Canton News and Don Mellett. The suit was brought because of articles printed when Lengel was suspended by the civil service commission on charges of laxity in law enforcement. He was later reinstated. The chief declared all his men are "on their toes to bring in the murderers."

City council in special session last night voted to finance the extraordinary activities which may be required in the search.

The commerce commission adjourned the hearing at 6 o'clock last night without announcing a decision.

ELEVEN HURT IN "TWISTER" NEAR ASHLAND

Extent of Damage to Property Unestimated Today

Ashland, Wis., July 17.—(AP)—A check up of casualties after a tornado which tore up this district late yesterday afternoon showed three dead and eleven injured, many farm buildings demolished, a steel railroad bridge torn up and the buildings of one town of 300 a mass of wreckage. The amount of property damage is unestimated.

The dead are: Mabel Johnson, 18, and Julia Johnson, 23, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Johnson, farmers. Irvine Anderson, 12, son of Albert Anderson, farmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Johnson, parents of the dead girls are both in a hospital critically injured.

A swath from 300 feet to a quarter of a mile wide was cut at intervals for 50 miles southeast of Ashland. Torrents of rain and large hail stones preceded the tornado. The funnel shaped cloud appeared to originate about ten miles west of Ashland.

Girl Hurled 600 Feet.

One family knelt in prayer in the cellar during the storm and the entire house was lifted and hurled for a radius of a hundred yards. A few minor injuries resulted. Across the road the two Johnson girls met death one of them being hurled six hundred feet into a ravine. Clothing was picked up a mile away.

The Duluth South Shore steel railroad bridge was torn out and the section foreman, his wife and family and two other railroad employees raced for the woods and clung to trees to keep from being blown away while they watched their home being demolished. One of the men hurried to the nearest town to flag an approaching train to prevent a wreck.

At Upson, the town now in ruins, the depot was wrecked, many buildings destroyed and a filling station in which was the proprietor, Miles White, was lifted up and hurled into a tree 20 feet away. White was uninjured.

Freeport.—Ten weeks ago Homer Myers, 26, an auto salesman, left Freeport for Chicago with $1,000 in cash. They money belonged to a client for whom he was to purchase an automobile. Myers never returned and now his parents have given up hope that he will ever return. Descriptions of the youth have been broadcast throughout the country and a diligent search has been conducted by detectives in Chicago's underworld in the belief that he may have been the victim of gangsters. The longer his absence from home, the more credence is given to the theory that he has met with foul play.

Civil War Veteran, Justice, Denies He Favors Speed Trap

Moline, Ill., July 17.—(AP)—William Caulkins, 83 year old Civil War veteran, opened his books as police magistrate of Carbon Cliff today and vigorously denied that he and the village motorcycle officer, Dave Coons, are conducting a speed trap.

Carbon Cliff is a village of 400, seven miles east of Moline on route 7, one of the most traveled pavements in Illinois. The village limits extend over nearly two miles of farm land, the built-up section covering only a few blocks. The town is said to have been widely advertised as a "speed trap."

"We don't average four times a week," said the magistrate. "There's the books; see for yourself. I bought a car a couple of weeks ago and I don't like to drive fast myself but its all rubbish to say Dave and I are getting rich arresting motorists."

HUNDREDS KILLED IN LANDSLIDE IN CITY WHERE WORLD WAR HAD ITS INCEPTION, JUNE 24, 1914

Vienna, July 17.—(AP)—Reports from Belgrade say that between 80 and 100 persons were killed when a landslide buried a railroad train near Sarajavo, Bosnia.

The reports stated that huge mass of earth loosened by recent heavy rains slid down upon the train and buried nearly all the coaches smothering the passengers.

Sarajavo "the city of palaces," near which today's landslide is reported to have occurred, will long be remembered as the place of the assassination of the Arch Duke Francis Ferdinand and his wife on June 28, 1914. It was this tragedy which brought to a head the long standing conflict between Austria and Serbia and in time brought to a head the conflicting national controversies which ultimately resulted in the World War.

Moline, Ill., July 17.—(AP)—Harry Fromme of Moline, state motorcycle officer, last night raced and beat a fast freight train from Silvis to Geneseo, 15 miles away, boarded the train while it was in motion, arrested Earl Painter, and a few miles further east, with the train still traveling at a rapid rate of speed, jumped to the ground with his prisoner.

Painter who is a resident of Seymour, Iowa, is charged with larceny in East Moline. He is said to have boarded the train to escape arrest. Fromme, hearing about it, beat the train to Geneseo by traveling 50 miles an hour.

Insull-Pierce Wedding Celebrated

Chicago—The wedding of Miss Adelaide Pierce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ingalls Pierce, to Samuel Insull Jr., which took place at the Pierce residence at 1337 Astor Place Thursday afternoon, may have been a small and simple affair to its participants, but its size and simplicity were eloquent of the importance and prominence of the families involved. The list of guests, announced beforehand by Miss Pierce to include only relatives, apparently swelled to almost a hundred of the city's most representative folk, who crowded into the drawing room for the service at 4:30 o'clock.

At 4 o'clock smart motors began arriving at the red brick mansion at the corner of Banks and Astor streets. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Insull, the bridegroom's parents, were among the earliest. Mrs. Insull was gowned in beige crepe with a skirt of heavy embroidery and lace, and her hat was of white straw ornamented with a feather flower of deep burgundy shades. She wore a double strand of opera length pearls.

The drawing room of the residence had been transformed into a candlelit chapel for the occasion. A large drape of crimson brocade covering the alcove formed by a group of bay windows at the front of the house on Banks street, was flanked on each side by mammoth palms and ferns, tall wrought iron candleholders, and large metal vases filled with pink gladioli and baby's breath. A small white kneeling stool on an oriental rug formed the altar, where the Rev. Ashley Gerhardt read the service.

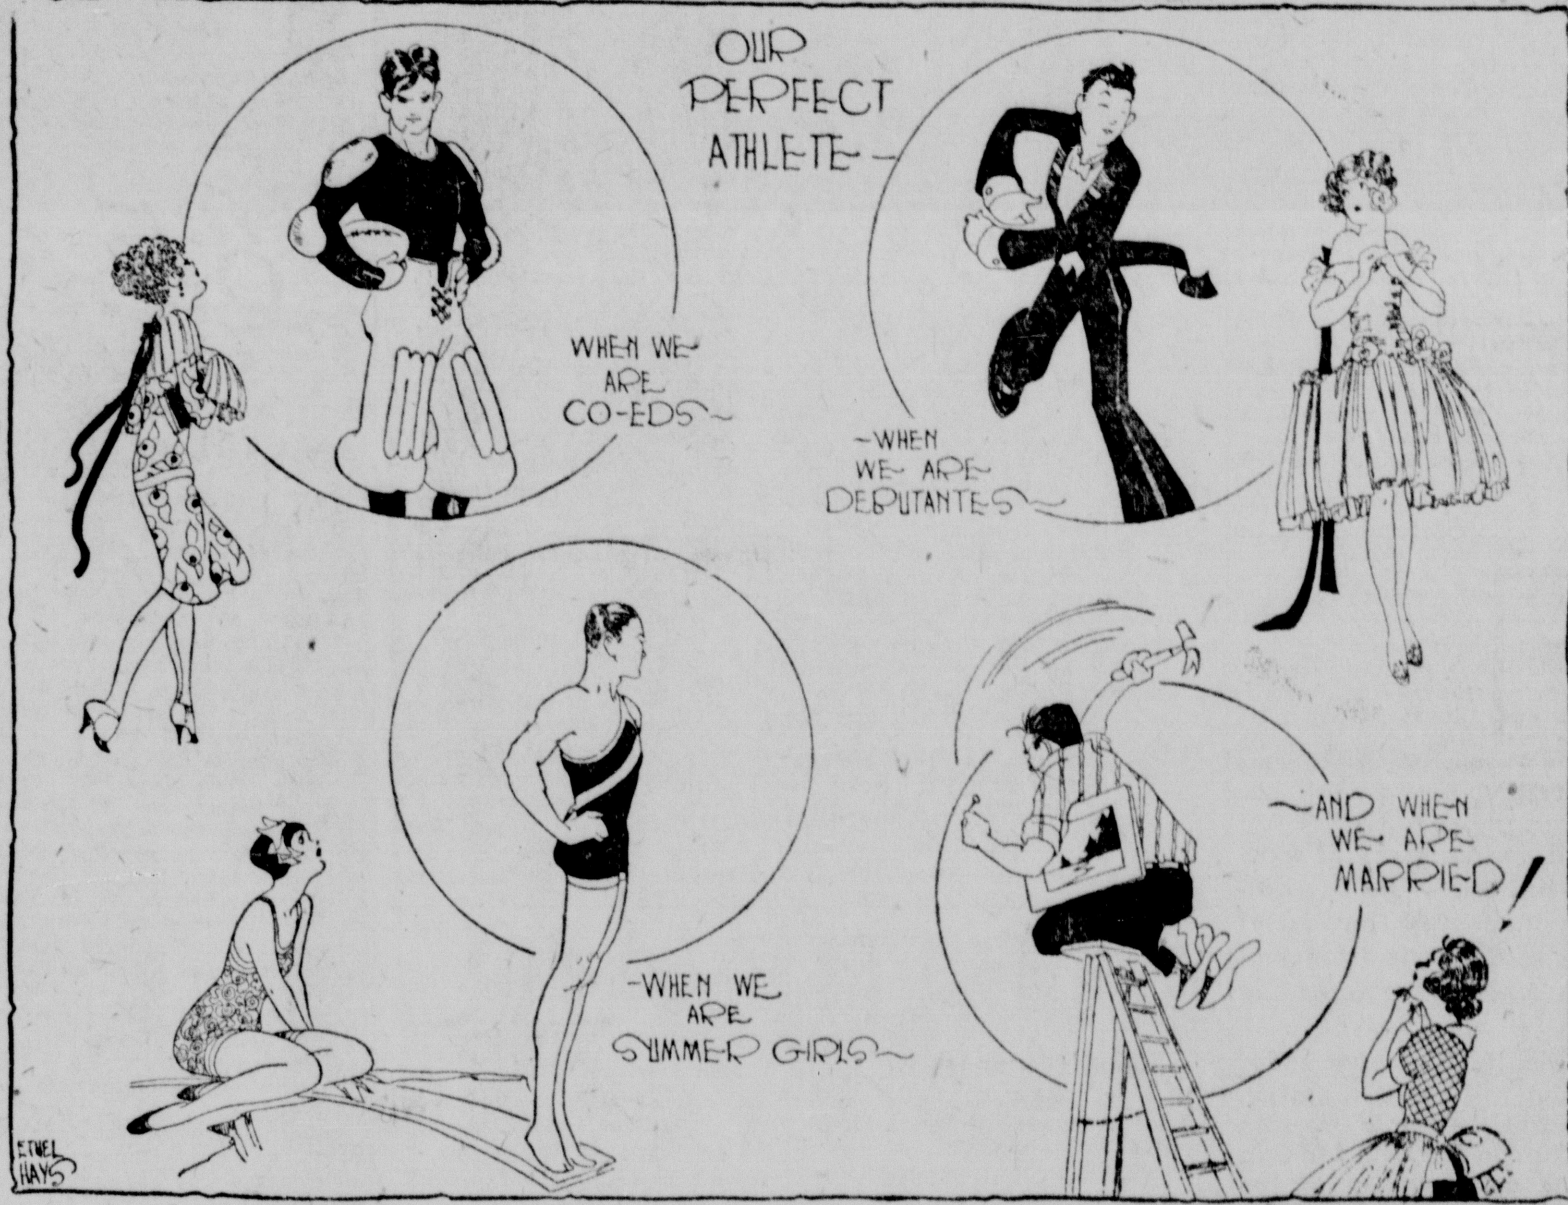

Shortly after 4:30 o'clock the bridegroom, who was in this instance as important a figure as the bride, descended the stairway with his best man, Ogden Ketting, and was followed shortly by the bride and her father. Miss Pierce's gown was of shimmering cream satin, severely cut with a square neck and long sleeves. An appliqued design of silver leaves which marked the bride's was the only trimming. A plain veil of tulle covered the bride's dark hair, and she carried a small bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

The bride's mother wore pale tan crepe and a large black picture hat. Members of the two families, who were present included Mr. and Mrs. Martin Insull and their daughter, Miss Virginia Insull, a sister of Mr. Insull, who was wearing white crepe embroidered in black and a large black hat; Dr. and Mrs. Frank Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCrea of Lake Forest, sister and brother-in-law of the bride; Joseph Insull of Pittsfield, Mass., and Mrs. Fred A. Smith of Rockford, an aunt of the bride.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Scott, Mrs. Scott in a crepe ensemble of magenta shade and with a hat to match; Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe, who were with Mr. Schweppe's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed. Mrs. Reed was in green georgette, with a transparent straw hat of the same color, and Mrs. Reed wore an outfit of aches of roses crepe.

Mrs. Charles Wesley Dempster was in tan and black printed crepe, with a brown lace trimmed hat. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Knowlton Ames Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Wegg, Mr. and Mrs. Morris L. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Lann, Mrs. Elliott West of Rockford, Ill.; Mrs. Cyrus G. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Ira C. Copley, Mrs. Alexander F. Stevenson, Mrs. John Ralston, her sister, Mrs. Douglas Harvey, Howard Gillette, Col. Ralph H. James, former Lieut. Gov. Oglesby, Gen. Milton Foreman, Miss Harriet and Miss Elizabeth Stuart, Mr. and Mrs. William A. P. Pullman, and Mr. and Mrs. George Corson Ellis. ETHEL:

Goat-Getters

Particular bath steward invited me last night "to come look at my baby in the bath."

I, all ready to oblige over a rosy cherub divested of swaddling clothes, found that "the baby" was about ready for Eton or Rugby.

"Hey, you! I'm no porpoise in the aquarium," he very properly rebuked his doting steward.

I am glad I am only a tourist. Melodies are floating from the second class cabin.

A lady old enough to be seen and not heard is warbling "Asleep in the Deep."

The boat caste system is admirably shown in its library. We tourists have a few Cooper and Sir Walter Scott volumes.

Second class gets a bit more modern with "Garden of Allah" and "Penrod."

Up in the first class salon whither I bootlegged myself, they have Ben Hecht and "Green Hat."

However, they do not read up there. They play bridge, mah jong, chess, gum, smoke, cigarettes, and languidly call "steward." The army of emerald and diamond bracelets and rings is dazzling.

The beauty parlor is doing a rushing business. I watched many a blonde emerge who had entered the emporium of fragrance as a brunette. Many are reading "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes."

My duenna is reading guide books. We are traveling alone. No party for us. We once knew a girl who went with a party and has told for five years the story of how they didn't see Notre Dame by moonlight because the outlined trip did not specify moonlight and the guide wouldn't take them until the next night, when the moon was gone.

My duenna, who will figure much in this narrative, is traveling incognito. She says that a girl is known by the company she keeps. Her last name is Herring. Her middle name is Pretzel. And her first name is Pansy.

Pansy Pretzel Herring just whispered in my ear that she had seen a school of porpoise. I am denied seeing such things, staying in this cabin as I must, to give news of what's what to my large and admiring following.

I now, too, go forth to see the porpoise, which are, it seems, large black fish, more coy than whales but smaller.

MOUNTAIN DAWN

Across the dark linked loveliness of lakes

A sign goes, and a bird awakes;

A sleepy thrush, a mottled thrush, whose wings

Shake off the dew the moment when he sings;

And like the drops of crystal on the ground,

After the song there is no other sound.

Dim, dim, oh, beauty that awaits the gold,

Gray as an owl's wing, and cold,

Yet with me pause a little while, and stay

The more familiar coming of the day;

Bring me faint sounds I cannot hear until

I hear the haunted waterfall and hill;

The echo of the night, among the trees;

The echo of the slight, moon-shivered breeze;

And that calm . . . which enchants the hills

From twilight on, and all the valley fills

With dreams and dreaming radiance and hush—

Wait! Wait! Ah, wait, till once again the thrush!

Menus for the Family

BY SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST—Stewed prunes, cereal, thin cream, crisp broiled bacon, whole wheat toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Cream pea soup, croissants, molasses spinach salad, brown bread, rice custard pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER—Rolled flank of beef, mashed potatoes, oriental beans, romaine salad, strawberry custard pudding, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee. Even if there is an abundance of fresh fruit on the market don't forget the necessity of serving stewed prunes occasionally. And you will find that if they are thoroughly chilled and served with a sprig of mint even the fast finicky will like them.

Oriental Beans
One pound of green beans, 2 medium sized tomatoes or 1 cup canned tomatoes, 1 good sized onion, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper 2 table spoons olive oil.

Wash beans and "snap". Cut small diamond shaped pieces and put in a smooch closely covered sauce pan. Pour over boiling water to cover and bring to the boiling point. Reduce heat and add tomatoes pared and cut in small pieces and onion finely minced. Simmer for 45 min. and add salt and pepper. Add olive oil and cook until tender about 30 min. longer.

If the beans are young and tender they will cook in less than one hour. In this event add the oil 30 min. before serving.

Breakfast—Orange juice, cereal, thin cream, soft cooked eggs, crisp whole wheat toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Tossed vegetable salad, toasted cheese sandwiches, ginger drop cookies, milk, tea.

Dinner—Spanish steak, baked potatoes, creamed carrots, head lettuce with French dressing, Washington cream pie with sliced peaches, graham bread, milk, coffee.

The cheese sandwiches must be carefully toasted in the oven. When made this way the cheese is just melted without being overcooked and tough. Overcooked cheese is difficult to digest and should never be served. Spanish steak offers a suggestion for a company dinner when a roast is not wanted.

Spanish Steak
One sirloin steak cut 3 1/2 inches thick, 1 tablespoon salt, 1 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons butter, 4 large onions, 1 quart tomatoes or 6 good sized fresh ones, 3/4 cup grated cheese.

Wipe meat with a cheesecloth wrung out of cold water. Trim edges. Heat an iron frying pan and rub with a piece of suet cut from the steak. When the spider is very hot sear the meat quickly on both sides. There should not be any sputtering during the searing! When the steak is thoroughly seared sprinkle with salt and pepper and spread with butter. Pour about 1 cup of boiling water in at one side of the pan and cook in a hot oven for 30 minutes. Cover with onions peeled and sliced and cook 45 minutes. Then add a layer of tomatoes pared and sliced and cook until tomatoes are tender. Sprinkle with grated cheese and cook until cheese is melted and slightly browned on top. Serve with a gravy made from the liquor in the pan. This will serve eight persons. Nothing Gained by Imitating the Men

Des Moines, Iowa, July 17.—(AP)—The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs closed its annual four day convention last night and the delegates now are homeward bound. A warning to avoid simulation of masculine ways if they would retain the friendship and good will of business men was the final advice given the women workers by Miss Emma Reed of Minneapolis, assistant secretary of the Minneapolis and St. Louis Railroad Company and said to be the highest ranking woman railway executive in the United States.

She declared a woman would gain nothing by imitating the men, nor should the feminine worker expect any extra consideration because of being a woman. A natural straightforward attitude, coupled with a willingness to accept defeat gracefully is the best business attribute, Miss Reed said.

Election of Miss Lena Madsen Phillips, New York attorney, as national president was one of the concluding acts of the convention.

TAMA JIM'S VICTORY.

We can not know what James Wilson, secretary of agriculture sixteen years under three presidents, would say concerning the farm relief bills pending in congress, but out of this session has come a victory for him in the project for completion of the agricultural building in Washington according to his plans.

So great did the department of agriculture become under his administration that there was need for a new building. The appropriation made by congress did not allow erection of such a building as the secretary deemed suitable for that branch of the government, so, to the astonishment of the congress that made the appropriation, he proceeded to erect two great wings that eventually must be joined by the middle structure.

Secretary Wilson retired from the cabinet with the entrance of President Wilson in the white house in 1913. The war caused a suspension of the government's public building program, so the two wings have stood separated for more than thirteen years. Both were occupied by the divisions of the department of agriculture and the employees walked from one to the other as demands of the day's work may have required.

Congress was congress and Wilson was Scotch and both were immovable on the issue, but Wilson erected the building as far as he could according to his original plans and left posterity to finish it.

In the appropriations made for public buildings by the present congress provision was made for investment of $50,000,000 in structure for government needs in Washington. Of this sum $8,000,000 will be used to join the two wings of the agricultural building to conform to the original plans of the man who proposed it.

Wilson was the fourth secretary of agriculture, the department being comparatively new when he entered it. When he left it he had served longer than all of his predecessors combined. He was appointed by McKinley in 1897 and he continued in office until 1913 throughout administrations of Roosevelt and Taft. He had served in congress, but he was appointed to the cabinet he was associated with the Iowa agricultural college at Ames.

When he was in congress Iowa had a United States senator named James F. Wilson, and the congressman was called "Tama Jim" as a distinguishing title, because he was from Tama county. By that name he came to be known to the nation.

A STORY OF A GIRL OF TODAY

A CLASH OF WITS
"I got back from my luncheon, Mr. Robinson, in the time which was given to me for it, according to rules. The rest of the time I have been up stairs with Miss Cleaver."
"Evidently you had not told him that I had been there, Doctor Flint, for he said, 'It is unfortunate that Miss Cleaver has had an epileptic fit.' I told him that she had taken poison and to prove it I handed him the bottle from which about half of the liquid had been taken. As I slipped it into Mr. Robinson's hand he was so terrified when he saw the red skull and cross bones that he dropped it on the floor and turned so white I thought he was going to faint."
Doctor Flint muttered something under his breath which sounded like "fool."

"Then he came close to me again and snapped, 'Where is that bottle now, young woman.'"

"Hasn't Mr. Robinson got it?" I countered.

"You know very well he hasn't. That's why I asked you for it last night; that's why I'm asking you for it now."

"I don't know whether Mr. Robinson has it or not, Doctor Flint," I lied cheerfully. "I haven't seen Mr. Robinson since I saw him at the counter when I handed it to him. I saw him drop it. I saw him turn very pale as he kicked it under the counter out of sight."

"So you know he dropped it?"

"Yes, I know he dropped it, but let me say right here, Doctor, that if I had dropped anything that I felt as important as both of you and he think that bottle marked poison was, I would have picked it up before the store closed. In fact I would have picked it up instead of kicking it under the papers."

"Which of course you did, Miss Dean," asserted the Doctor triumphantly. Well, we want it pass it over."

"Doctor I have never experienced the tactics the police use in the third degree, but I believe they are something like those you are using now."

As I spoke I was sure that lady luck was with me, for Mr. Robinson came hurriedly into the room.

"Have you seen the morning papers he asked, before he really recognized me."

"Yes," answered the doctor curtly. "I was just trying to get the bottle from Miss Dean which she picked up from the floor—"

"You remember it. You dropped it yourself," I said, turning to the manager of the store.

"Yes I remember it," said Mr. Robinson.

Doctor Flint again swore under his breath. He would not have had the manager make that admission for the world.

BABE RUTH DROPS LEADERSHIP WITH WILLOW TO FALK

Grantham Sensation of the Week Among National Sluggers

Chicago, July 17.—(AP)—Babe Ruth has slipped from the batting leadership of the American League in the official batting averages issued today, and has been replaced at the top by Bib Falk, White Sox outfielder. In the last six games, including that of Wednesday, Ruth got but five hits, four singles and a homer, and fell off 16 points. Fothergill of Detroit ranks above Falk but has been at bat less than half the number of times.

The rest of the Yankees slumped a bit along with Ruth, while the Washington team generally were improving in their hitting. McNeely of the Senators made the greatest gain of the week in hitting, landing among the select ten with a gain of 22 points. Among Falk's ten hits the past week were two home runs, a triple and two doubles. In two baggers, he is just two behind the league leader, Burns of Cleveland. As runners-up to the Bambino in home runs, Simmons of the Athletics and Lazzari of the Yankees each added one to their string this week and are tied at 12, while Ruth added one to reach 27.

Stolen Base Record
The stolen base mark of the crippled Meneel of the Yankees was tied by E. Rice of Washington, who, however, dropped out of the ten leading hitters this week. Hunnefeld and Mostil of the White Sox are just a step behind.

George Uhle leads the moundmen in victories with 14, just one more than Ted Lyons of the White Sox, who ranks the Indian pitcher slightly in innings pitched. Pate of the Athletics has a clean slate, being credited with eight victories, although he has pitched only the equivalent of seven and a half games.

Leading hitters of the American League in 50 or more games: Fothergill, Detroit, 433; Falk Chicago, 375; Hellmann, Detroit, 368; Ruth, New York, 367; Meusel, New York, 366; Burns, Cleveland, 365; Mostil, Chicago, 358; Goslin, Washington, 352; McNeely, Washington, 352; Manush, Detroit, 348.

Grantham Sensation

The sensation of the National League the past week was the hitting of George Grantham of the Pittsburgh Pirates. In six games he got 15 hits, including a home run, three triples and four two-baggers. Although the Pirates failed to do better than break even in games on the week, Grantham's hitting shoved the team from fourth place to second in team batting. Herman of Brooklyn, the leader among the regulars last week, slumped badly the past week, Bressler, the present leader, was in only one game the past week, and fell off five points. Bubbles Hargrave, the Reds' catcher, fell from his high mark of 411 to 395 the past week.

Rogers Hornsby, the St. Louis slugger, celebrated his return to the game by collecting ten hits in seven games, moving from seventh to sixth place in the standings. Paralleling the stick work of Grantham was Jacobson of Brooklyn, who made 11 hits in the last six games, coming from far down in the rack into the first ten.

Wilson Leads Homers

Young of the Giants slid into a tie for the stolen base leadership by getting three this week, equaling the mark of his teammate Frisch at 17.

Cuyler of Pittsburgh is just behind the two Giants with 16. Hack Wilson of the Cubs added another round trip this week, and still leads the National League with 13 home runs. Bottomley of St. Louis got two, but is still one behind the Chicago outfielder.

Rogers Hornsby also got two home runs this week, and is tied with his teammate Bell, and Jack Fournier, of Brooklyn, at nine.

The Reds fell off a bit in team hitting, but their veteran pitching staff still holds the laurels. Rixey leads the league in effectiveness among the regulars, and Donohue has won the most games, 13. Rhem of St. Louis and "Specs" Meadows of Pittsburgh are close behind Rixey and fourth among the regulars in Doug McWeeny of Brooklyn, a former White Sox discard.

Leading Hitters in the National League in 40 or more games:

Hargrave, Cincinnati, 395; Bressler, Cincinnati, 375; Grantham, Pittsburgh, 365; Herman, Brooklyn, 356; Traynor, Pittsburgh, 351; Hornsby, St. Louis, 344; Christensen, Cincinnati, 343; Jacobson, Brooklyn, 340; E. Smith, Pittsburgh, 336; Cuyler, Pittsburgh, 334.

YANKEES FEELING HOT BREATH NOW OF MACK'S MEN

Ehmke, Newest Athletic Hurler, Helps Win for Connie

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Yanks who paraded ten games ahead of the American League pack a few weeks ago, today felt the hot breath of a desperate sprint by Connie Mack's Athletics to close the diminishing gap between the two clubs.

The margin was shortened to five and one half games yesterday with a double-barreled victory by Philadelphia over St. Louis while the Huguenots were barely escaping another defeat at the hands of the Tigers. Third inning batting rallies accounted for both Mackian triumphs, the first by 3-2 and the second by 6-4.

Look at the little yellow tag on your Telegraph. Look now please.

The Athletics now have won 12 of their last 14 games as against 5 out of 13 for the Yanks. Ehmke, obtained recently from Boston in a trade finally has come through to support the mound efforts of Lefty Grove and Eddie Rommel, the former Hub pitcher yesterday turning on one of his best performances, allowing the Browns only six scattered hits.

Ruth Leads Attack.

Babe Ruth led the Yankees successful ninth innings stand against the Cobblers which started a three run rally to turn the tide in favor of New York 4-3.

In the only other American League game, Levens outpitched Walter Johnson to blank the Senators 8-0.

Slugging bees developed in two National League conflicts with the Robins hammering flys St. Louis pitchers for an 8-7 victory and the Pirates outslugging the Braves 9-7.

Wilbert Robinson's warfare with his pitching staff reached husky Jess Petty yesterday. Jess was suspended indefinitely for alleged neglect of training rules.

Seven runs in a second inning batting assault clinched the Pirate victory over the Braves.

John of the Tigers pitched shutout ball for six innings against the

Yanks, but blew in the seventh after allowing only one hit. Stoner tried his hand and after allowing one hit and retiring one man he gave way to Wilbur Cooper, former Cub left hand. Cooper was in hard luck.

With the tying runs on base, Lazerra smashed out a triple and the count was knotted with the winning run on third. Holloway tried his hand and Dagan, the first man up singled giving the Yanks an even break with the Cobblers.

Rogers Hornsby used 20 men trying to beat the Robins in the final game of their series.

Joe Pate of the Athletics twirling staff has won eight games and not yet been charged with a defeat although he has participated in 26 games. He has pitched 67 innings and been scored on 26 times.

Sidelights

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Smith, Boston pitcher was given on a hot reception in the second inning by the Pirates who registered seven runs before he could retire the side. He then settled down while his team mates drove "Bullet Joe" Bush off the hill.

Two Pacific Coast rookies—Rhyno and Waner—were largely responsible for the downfall of Bob Smith of the Braves. The Pirate kids sewed up the game for the veteran Joe Bush in the second inning when Rhyno clouted a homer with two on base and Waner poked out a triple with the bases loaded.

Walter Johnson met his match

when he drew young Levens as an opponent on the hill. The Senators' speed star was smashed for ten hits before he retired in the fifth frame.

The Indians' rookie allowed only eight blows.

John of the Tigers pitched shutout

ball for six innings against the

Yanks, but blew in the seventh after allowing only one hit. Stoner tried

George Knouse underwent a nasal operation yesterday morning at the Dixon hospital. Word was received this morning that he was doing nicely.

Mr. W. S. Nicholas, a missionary from China was entertained Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sheap.

Mrs. George S. Ives and sons, George, Jr., and Billy, in company with her sister, Mrs. Clarence Jackman of Chicago, expects to leave Saturday for an extended trip to Wisconsin. They will enjoy bathing, fishing and boating at Lake Delevan and other resorts in that state.

The following persons formed an auto party to Muscatine, Iowa, Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gonnemay, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schafer and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Schafer and daughter, and Mrs. Charles Zopf. They visited at the Lutheran Home, at that place. They returned home Monday, accompanied by Miss Wittig, matron of the Orphan's Home who will visit friends and relatives in this community.

Mrs. Addie Baldridge returned home Sunday from Galt where she had been assisting in the care of her aunt Mrs. M. Wilkerson whose health is not improving as her friends had hoped for.

Mrs. J. B. MacPherson and Emil Schertner of Dixon spent Sunday at this place with their sister, Mrs. Lizzie Chronister.

Preaching services in the Presbyterian church Sunday evening at 7:30. Rev. Hartzell will occupy the pulpit.

Six of our young folks are camping at the Camp Grounds during the Epworth Institute. Rev. and Mrs. L. V. Sittler are also camping with them. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Farver of Ashton transacted business here Tuesday evening.

The Epworth League Institute in session at the Camp Grounds is the largest since the institute was started several years ago. At present there are over 155 students that are registered for work and more are expected to come today. There are up to date 175 folks on the grounds. The best of order is being maintained and a general good time is being enjoyed by all. Every cottage is filled, and several tents have been erected to accommodate the splendid group of young folks. Rev. Moore of Eganston, formerly pastor at Dixon, is Dean of the Institute and in absence of Rev. Carlson, pastor of the Dixon church, Rev. Moore delivered one of his splendid sermons Tuesday night. Rev. Dingle of Morrison preached a good sermon last night. The program for Sunday will be found elsewhere in this column.

A meeting of the directors of the Epworth League Institute was held at the Franklin Grove bank Friday. At this meeting Rev. E. C. Lumsden, district superintendent was placed on the board of directors for a term of three years, while Rev. Roy Crocker and C. R. Clothier were re-elected to succeed themselves for three years.

It was recommended that the Epworth League Institute be bonded and that the expense of the bond be paid by the Institute. F. C. Gross and F. J. Hansen were authorized to audit the books of the treasurer as soon as possible. The report of the treasurer showed that the finances of the Institute are improving each year. It was decided that one member of each Epworth League of the Joliet-Dixon district canvas each member of his local church for $1 a year investment in the Epworth League Institute Investment Fund. It was also requested that each Epworth League of the District pay $10 toward the contingent fund of the Institute each year, to help shoulder the expenses.

Mrs. Warren Hutchinson was voted $50 in appreciation of her faithful service for the Institute. Much credit is due both Rev. and Mrs. Warren Hutchinson for the success of the Institute. They are untiring in their efforts to make one and all happy and comfortable.

The Fourth Annual Institute under the auspices of the Women's Foreign Missionary society closed Sunday evening after a week of splendid meetings. Sunday was one of the best programs that the Institute has ever put on. Miss Cora Simpson, R. N., head of the Nurses' Association of China, spoke in the afternoon and evening. She held her audience spellbound with her story of her work in China. She is one wonderful woman and is doing a magnificent work in China.

Saturday night was a most enjoyable meeting at which time Mrs. Timmons of Sterling presented Rev. and Mrs. Warren Hutchinson a gift from the Institute in appreciation of their work for them. Mrs. Van Sant of Sterling, presented Mrs. C. N. Timmons, the district corresponding secretary, a gift from the Institute in appreciation of her work that the text book was taught so well by her. Mrs. Smith presented Mrs. Nicholas a gift of remembrance from the Institute; Mrs. W. Whitmore, presented Miss Ava Hunt, a missionary from India, with a very useful gift, one that she might carry with her through India. At the close of the meeting a Camp Fire was enjoyed. Too much credit and kind words cannot be said about Mrs. Glen Craddock of Sterling, President of the Institute and who presided at each meeting. To her is due largely the success of the Institute. She has worked hard and faithfully to secure one of the best if not the best programs of the four years, and her co-workers and friends are hoping that she may again preside next year. The music in charge of Miss Ruth E. Coughy of Sterling and Mrs. W. H. Whitmore of Waterman, was very helpful throughout the entire session. Their duties were most thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Many words of praise are being heard these days about the flower garden at the Flat Iron park, under the supervision of the Woman's Club. The flowers are at their real beauty now and the walks around them are nice and clean. If you have not seen the park lately it will pay you to walk around that way and see what an improvement it is to the town.

One of the darkest places we have ever tried to walk is from the camp grounds to the corner. We have been informed that for a small sum of money a light could be installed at the entrance of the Camp Ground, which would make it safe for all. During the summer months there is hardly a week but some meeting is held on the grounds, and a light should be furnished for those who find it necessary to walk to and from the grounds. The brethren people are using the grounds for their church services and paying rent for it. The chautauqua will use it next month and will pay rent for it. It would seem that a few dollars of the rent could be used for a light along the walk.

Later—Since writing the above, Mr. Fred Gross has taken the matter up with Manager Hutchinson and we have been assured that two lights

This turkey is destined to grace President Coolidge's Thanksgiving dinner table, and consequently is being fed on a diet of walnuts to fatten him. He's being raised on a farm at Concord, Calif., and is expected to weigh 30 pounds by the time they put him in the air mail for Washington.

will be installed at once along the dark walk. This will be more than good news to those who travel the walk nightly and we all feel thankful to Fred for his efforts.

Mrs. Jennie Felker and daughter

Gertrude of Dayton, Ohio are visiting at the home of her sister, Miss Amanda Miller. They made the trip from Dayton by auto and Mrs. Felker though past eighty stood the trip fairly well.

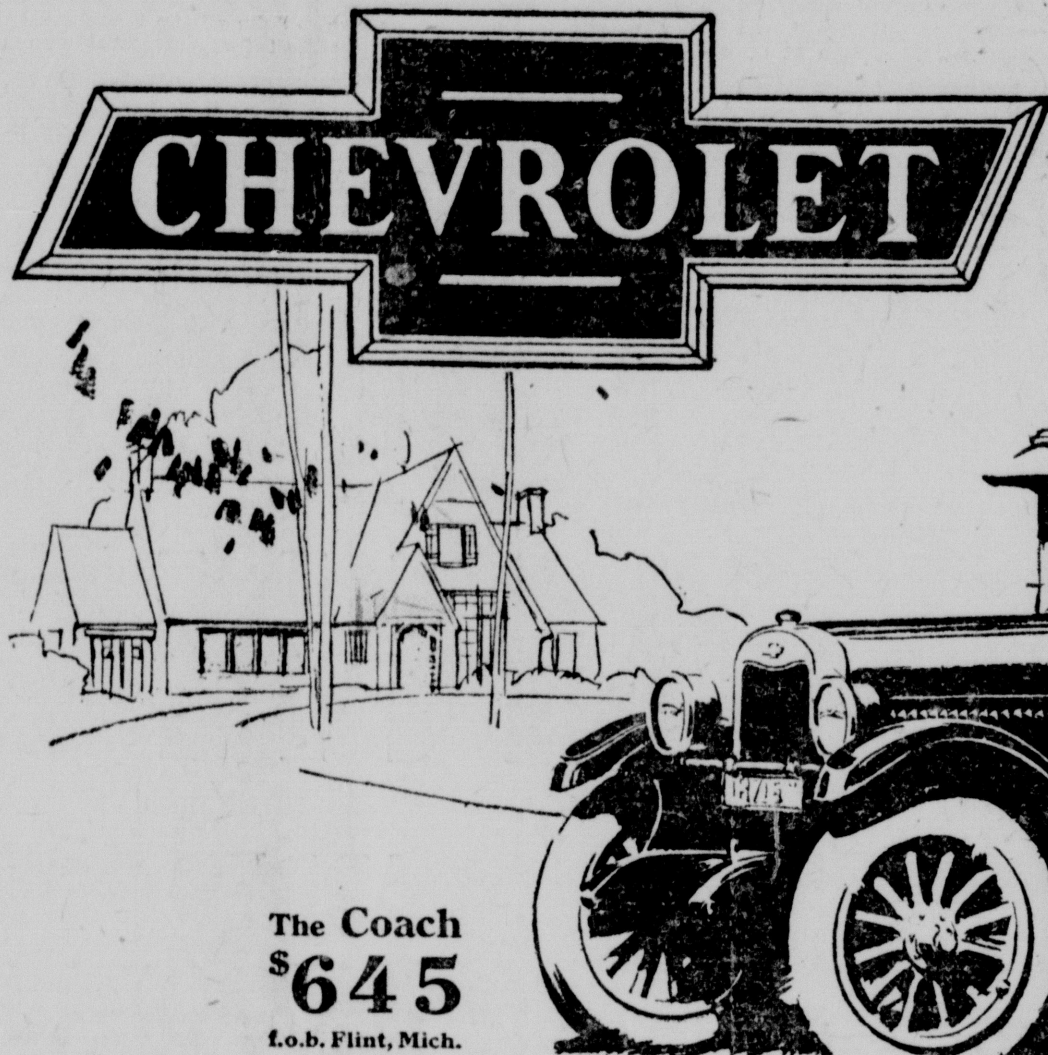

The swimming pool will be opened to the public Monday afternoon. The small sum of fifteen cents is being charged this year, to help defray expenses.

Mrs. David Gnagy of Covin, Calif. is visiting friends and relatives here. Mrs. Gnagy will be remembered as Etta Cook, a former Franklin Grove girl.

Miss Mabel is reported as seriously ill at the home of her mother, Mrs. Mary Gnagy, with an attack of whooping cough.

Mrs. A. W. Crawford and daughter Mrs. R. C. Gross entertained nine tables of bridge Friday afternoon at the Crawford home. A lovely two course luncheon was served. Mrs. Douglas Stultz won head prize and Mrs. Jesse Dysart consolation. Out of town guests were Mrs. Ralph Zarger of Dixon and Mrs. George Stephan of Ashton.

LET THE WIND PUMP YOUR WATER FOR NOTHING
With a Stover OIL RITE Windmill

There is no guesswork, no fear of dry grease cups or oil boxes, ruined bearings or undue wear brought about by lack of lubrication for on the STOVER OIL RITE mill whether it works for ten minutes or ten hours every working part is always properly and thoroughly lubricated just as soon as the mill is placed in action.

There is oil everywhere, but none escapes or splashes out and the surplus not required for the bearings returns to the reservoir to be used over again.

Russell Scott, Chicago murderer, is under sentence to hang on Oct. 15. But his brother, Robert, and his wife, Catherine, may yet save him. Robert, shown above at the left with his attorney, William Scott Stewart, has pleaded guilty to the murder for which Russell was sentenced. The lower picture shows Mrs. Catherine Scott staring herself in a glass cage on the stage of a Detroit theater to raise money for her husband's defense. She is weak, but vows she'll stick.

When Bobby Comes Marching Home

Circus day had nothing on the welcome Bobby Jones got when he landed in Atlanta, Ga., after winning the British and American Open Golf Championships—and he already the U. S. amateur champ! The arrow points to Bobby, but the photo doesn't half do justice to the crowd.

Love My Dog!

Yes, it's a dog. And Trude Brionne, beauty of the theater in Vienna clasps it with the devotion of her ardent temperament.

SWEET THOUGHTS

Hey! The kid's er throwin' snow-balls an' they're havin' lots of fun. The ponds 'er frozen over, and the skatin' sports begun. They're bundled up real snugly, with a scarf around their neck, an' they're even wearin' mittens, and galoshes, too, by heck.

The old sidewalks 'er covered, like the trees, with snowy white, and it makes a wondrous picture when the moon shines through at night. Even grown-ups kinda like it, and they join right in the play, ridin' round the country roads upon a good old horse-frawn sleigh.

Dad is pushin' on a shovel so's ta get the front walk clean, an' his nose and ears are bitten by the winter tingle. keen. Mother's watchin' through the window. All that really worries her is, the wonder whether father's gonna buy that sable fur.

SURE! It's just a lot of hokum; all this winter season cheer. But I thought I might neglect it when the winter's really here. Had a hunch ta write this rhyming; now the bloom-in' thing it out, an' although it's dern untimely—still it's nice ta think about.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JOHN and FAY MILBURN buy a home when their baby girl is born and the advertising agency in which John is partner and copy writer lands a new contract. Among their acquaintances are—

NOEL and VERA BOYD, whose marriage is strictly "modern."

FAT and MARIAN FORBES, who have three children and whose domestic life is unhappy because of Fat's roving tendencies. Previous chapters told how:

John becomes fascinated with NELL ORME. Forbes hints she is having trouble with her husband.

Fay took JUDITH, the baby, to visit her parents in Washington and during her absence John ran around a good deal. When Fay returned gossip had related his doings and sharp quarrels followed, one of which drove him out "on a tear" and caused Fay to threaten to leave him if it was repeated.

John later encounters Nell Orme at the Boyds—a plot of Vera's, who takes delight in promoting "affairs." He resolves not to see her again, as he realizes Nell is carrying him off his feet. But he does and the day comes when he takes her leave in his arms.

Fay learns of it and leaves him. John closes the house and takes an apartment, and here one night comes Nell Orme to tell of a quarrel with her husband, HOWARD, who suspects John of having come between them. While John, in talking with her the door opens and Howard Orme enters.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY (The names and situations in this story are fictitious.)

CHAPTER LIV

JOHN could do nothing but stare and within him was the knowledge of the futility of words.

Terror had leaped to Nell Orme's eyes.

As for Howard Orme, the man's face was quite terrible to behold.

The thin, straight line of his mouth was even thinner and straighter because of the set teeth. The muscles of his jaw stood out like great knots and his eyes, narrowed in anger, blazed like a cat's.

Of the two, John, despite the false position he was in, was by far the calmer. As for Nell, she had backed against the wall and stood there, a breathless spectator.

John was thinking. "He'll have to say the first word. I won't make any apologies."

Howard, closing the door behind him and bracing his back against it, looked slowly from John to his wife and then back again to John.

"Well," he said finally, his voice little louder than a whisper, "I'm not surprised. I would have bet money this was where I'd find you two."

And then silence again. John, although the unfairness of the accusation angered him, still stubbornly refused to speak.

Once more Howard stared at his wife and shifted his gaze back again to the man he thought had destroyed his home. And the muscles of his jaw began to work and his mouth to tremble; the narrowed eyes to blink.

"You see," he cried at Nell, "I told you you were lying when you denied your love affair with this man. You lied—didn't you?" He was trembling now, all over, a pitiful figure.

And quite suddenly he collapsed and sank sprawling into the nearest chair. Nell spoke his name—"Howard"—and at the sound of her voice he sat up, looked at her and he buried his face in his hands.

Nell at once started toward him, her hands outstretched to comfort him, but John whispered, "Wait."

But suddenly John stopped to stare at the paper's ominous headlines, which were proclaiming a thing almost unbelievable.

Let him have it out," and she remained where she was.

But Orme was not long in recovering and John, as the other slowly raised his head, said, "Howard, do you want to listen to me?"

The words were as friendly, as kindly as he knew how to make them, but why, asked Orme, his lips tightening again, should he listen to any more lies?

Wasn't this evidence enough for him—to come in on his wife in another man's apartment, in another man's arms? What did he have to listen to?

Hell! John didn't think he was an ignorant kid, did he?

John's own calm surprised even himself.

"Well now, Howard," he began placatingly, "I can't resent your thinking those things, even though they're not true."

"Oh, don't lie," put in Orme wearily.

He wouldn't take the trouble to lie, John told him.

"Howard, sometimes things can look mighty different from what they really are. I won't deny that your wife and I have no business to be here, that on the surface things look pretty rotten—but you're dead wrong, just the same."

"Liar!" hissed Orme contemptuously. "Why don't you two admit your rottenness and be done with it? Why make it worse?"

Nell gasped. "Howard!" she exclaimed, her eyes wide and staring. And John, despite his resolution to try to reason with Orme, was forced to resent the man's words.

"See here now," he said angrily. "I refuse to get melodramatic about this thing. I don't care for all the penny fireworks. You simply don't know what you're talking about."

Orme, his face whitening, again hurled the word liar at him.

"No wonder," he went on, glaring at John, "your wife left you."

John took a step toward him, his face working, hands twitching. But Nell ran to his side and put a restraining hand on his arm. "Please, John."

"Oh, I'm not going to hit him," John cried.

He stopped and regarded the other man with a cold stare.

"All right, Orme, I'll take that, too. But that's about all. I'm going to insist that you listen to me—do you hear? Now your wife here—I won't deny that I have always liked her, but never for a minute have I forgotten that she was another man's wife or that I was married myself."

"I won't deny that I flirted with her—which I should not have done. But none of the things you seem to think, Orme. Not that, by the Lord eternal."

"You ought to know why she's here tonight. You drove her to it. She came running here, half hysterical, afraid, to tell me that you had struck her because she denied some of your nasty accusations."

In a lower tone, gently, "You struck her, Howard. Was that right?"

He was thinking, even then, of the night Fay had struck him. How strange the similarity between their quarrel and the one between the Ormes! He would never forget that slap of Fay's, not as long as he lived. And how much worse for a man to strike a woman.

Howard was saying, "Come now, I'm not to be fooled like this. What do you suppose a jury would say—finding you two here like this?"

"I hope you'll listen to reason, Howard," John told him, "and go home with Nell and patch up your quarrel. There's no good reason why you two should go on like this. Patch it up—you'll be happier; it will mean so much to you."

"I'll patch it up all right—patch it up in a divorce court."

"Oh no, Howard!" Nell cried out but Howard broke in. "I don't care to listen to any more of your Pollyanna advice."

"More of your cheap melodrama, eh?" John sneered, looking steadily at Orme.

"Call it whatever you want to. I'm getting a divorce and you, young man, will be named, never fear."

"So you'd drag this through the papers, would you, like some cheap dirty affair. You'd do that."

"You bet I'm going to do it, damn you!" Howard cried, and again he seemed on the point of tears. His hands twitched; his face was working; with the back of his hand he brushed impatiently at his eyes.

"Well, try to stop me."

And now John had surrendered completely to his anger.

"If you insist on doing that, Orme—do you hear me?—if you insist on that I believe I'd be tempted to kill you. I think I would kill you. God! I've stood a lot, but I won't stand for this."

Nell had gone over to her husband's side and was plucking at his sleeve.

"Please, Howard, he's telling the truth, the honest truth. Come, let's go home. Let's get out of here."

"She shot an agonized glance at John over her shoulder."

"Come, Howard," she went on, as Orme began to push her away, "please let's go home, and you sleep on it tonight and maybe in the morning you'll be able to think clearer."

"Think clearer? I'm thinking as clearly now as I'll ever think. Damn you, Milburn," he cried, his voice breaking. "And you, too, Nell. Damn you both! I'll have you both in court—you see if I don't."

"You do," John told him, "and you'll regret it to your dying day."

"You mean to say I haven't got the right to get a divorce? You'd better not butt in on my affairs any more."

And John, not knowing what else to say, turned wearily away, thinking, though, that if Orme did go through with this and drag his name into it, he'd be tempted to kill him.

Orme was snatching at his hat.

"I ought to kill you," he was crying, and started toward the door. Nell after him. "I ought to kill you."

And John—"Yes, I suppose so," he said.

There was no sleep for him that night. Going to bed was not even to be thought of. But before settling down in his arm chair he went first to a closet and brought out a bottle.

Over his glass he was reflecting that if Howard should do what he had threatened to do and Fay should learn of it, he'd sooner die than live with the knowledge that she could think of him as the kind of man Howard would paint him.

"God!" he cried. "What have I done that I should deserve all this? It isn't fair—I isn't right. Fay, I'm innocent—I swear it!"

And so the night wore on. What, he wondered, was Howard Orme doing now. Had Nell gone home with him, and were they quarreling again? What a pity that Nell should have this trouble on her hands.

And yet Howard—how could he really blame the man? What would he—John—have done had he come upon his own wife in another man's apartment?

What a nasty, muddled thing life was anyway. What trouble could be born of misunderstanding. And what was to become of him?

He rose to pour himself another drink. Wouldn't it be Graham gloat, he was thinking as he tipped the bottle, if he only knew of this.

He could hear a horse-drawn vehicle go clattering past his window—the milk man, most likely. Funny that routine things should go on so uninterruptedly like this while his own life was going to smash. But that was the way of the world—harsh, unfeeling, no one caring a rap for anyone else.

Some time during the long hours before dawn he went to his bedroom and opened the bureau drawer where lay the little rubber doll that had belonged to Judith. He squeezed it hard, and the toy emitted a faint squeak. It was unbearable—it tore so at his heart.

He was glad when he saw the sun shining in at the window, glad for the excuse of dozing and jumping into the tub. And now, he thought, as he emerged from his bath, an other day, with more trouble in store.

On his way to breakfast he bought a newspaper, glancing at the thing mechanically and with no idea whatever of reading. But suddenly he stopped to stare at the paper's ominous headlines, which were proclaiming a thing almost unbelievable.

The flame of scandal, he saw, was about to sear him again.

DELANEY VICTOR ON POINTS OVER PAUL BERLENBACH

No Question of Right to Light Heavyweight
Title.

New York, July 17—(AP)—The world's light heavyweight ring crown, jolted from championship heads five times in the last six years, found a new resting place today atop the handsome countenance of Jack Delaney of Bridgeport, Conn., whose real name is Chapdelaine Oviola. A sensational victory under the unanimous decision of the judges brought the rising daimon to Delaney before a capacity throng of 45,000 which paid $420,000 to see the rivals of two years standing grapple at Ebbets Field for the third time. While officially the weight of Berlenbach was recorded as 174½, and that of Delaney was 166½, postponement of the fight one day because of rain actually gave the defending titleholder a margin of 12 pounds over his opponent. When they entered the ring, Berlenbach tipped the scales at 181, six pounds over his class limit while the challenger's mark was put at 169.

Margin Decisive.
Delaney's margin on points was decisive in the estimation of critics at the ring side despite the fracturing of a small bone in his left thumb in the second round.

The dethroned king held his title only a little more than a year but his brief career was an eventful one and he achieved the reputation of being the most active champion in pugilism. Delaney, 26 years old and a French Canadian by birth, has been boxing since 1919 to compile a record studded with notable knockout triumphs and two stunning defeats. In 1922 he was twice stopped—one by Augie Ratner and once by Young Fisher. But a year later Delaney redeemed himself by outpointing Ratner while Fisher faded into obscurity as Delaney rapidly climbed the ladder.

When the new champion was a preliminary boy, an announcer pronounced his name to the best of his ability, "Chap-De-Lay-Nie."

The crowd got it as "Jack Delaney" and the name stuck. Delaney's share of last night's fight is estimated at $70,000. Berlenbach received something more than $150,000. During his career in the ring, Berlenbach collected a quarter million dollars.

League to Fight New Orders of Mexican Govt.

Mexico City, July 17—(AP)—The National League for Defense of Religious Freedom has announced plans for a vigorous campaign throughout Mexico against the new religious regulations when they become effective July 31.

It is declared the league intends to produce an "Intense economic crisis," thus forcing the government to cease enforcement of the regulations.

A circular letter issued by the executive committee of the league appeals to all "liberty loving" Mexican people to open a campaign beginning July 31 to "create a grave situation, paralyzing as much as possible the economic and social life of the country."

MISSIONS SCHOOL TO PARALLEL BIB- LE CONFERENCES

Great Array of Talent Assured for Meetings in Dixon.

The full program of the new International Bible Conference at Assembly Park, Aug. 8-15, has just come from press, and in addition to the strong array of speakers of national and international renown, already mentioned in Telegraph articles, the program shows provision for carrying the regular Women's Mission Study Courses as a simultaneous feature. This School of Missions has always been interdenominational and of high grade, its work standing for credit and thoroughness alongside that of Lake Geneva, Wis., Blue Ridge, N. C., Silver Bay, N. Y., Ashland, Calif., and others. The officers of the school for 1926 are: Pres., Mrs. J. E. Jensen, Chicago; Vice pres., Mrs. C. B. Newcomer, Carthage; Secretary, Mrs. J. R. E. Hunt, Chicago; Treas., Mrs. F. W. Hammer, Polo.

The text for Home Missions classes this year will be "The Templed Hill," taught by Mrs. H. C. Bell; for Foreign, "The Moslem Women," Mrs. H. Bechtold. Courses will also be given in "Parliamentary Usages," by Mrs. J. S. Maloney, "Literature Presentation," by Mrs. F. W. Hammer, and "Methods," by Mrs. W. F. Rex.

All those who heard the three previous lectures of Dr. Simon Peter Long of Chicago, in St. Paul's Lutheran church, last February, will be pleased to see the name of this inspiring Bible champion on the Conference schedule. He is the selection for the first full address, Sunday morning, 10:30, Aug. 8. Like the original "rockapostle," this modern "Simon Peter" gives a message that has a ring of certainty about it.
